Biome Expands Canadian Practitioner Channel with Fullscript Distribution Partnership

- All Biome Activated Probiotics products approved for launch on Fullscript Canada platform with launch planned for February 2026
- Fullscript serves over 100,000 healthcare practitioners and 5 million patients across North America
- Partnership complements existing Ecotrend Ecologics relationship to deliver complete Canadian market coverage

Microbiome health company Biome Australia Limited (ASX: BIO) ('Biome' or 'the Company') is pleased to announce it has secured distribution for its entire Canadian range on Fullscript, North America's dominant practitioner distribution platform, and agreed on commercial terms.

Strategic significance

The Fullscript partnership represents a significant milestone in Biome's Canadian expansion, providing access to the dominant platform for practitioner-to-patient supplement dispensing across the region. The North American integrative medicine market has grown at a 25% CAGR, with approximately 80% of healthcare professionals now recommending supplements in some capacity.¹

Canada's practitioner channel is anchored by Naturopathic Doctors (NDs), a rigorous four-year postgraduate medical qualification that positions these practitioners as trusted authorities in integrative health. Health Canada's stringent regulatory framework for natural health products creates a significant barrier to entry, favouring established, compliant brands like Activated Probiotics.

Complete Canadian Practitioner Market Coverage

The Fullscript partnership is strategically complementary to Biome's existing partnership with Ecotrend Ecologics, one of Canada's leading natural health products distributors with over 30 years of industry expertise. Together, these partnerships deliver comprehensive coverage of the Canadian practitioner market across both traditional wholesale distribution (Ecotrend) and direct-to-patient digital dispensing (Fullscript).

This dual-channel approach ensures Biome's Activated Probiotics range is accessible to practitioners regardless of their preferred dispensing model, whether maintaining in-clinic inventory through wholesale ordering or utilising Fullscript's innovative e-prescribing platform that ships products directly to patients' homes.

Management commentary

Blair Norfolk, CEO and Managing Director of Biome Australia, commented:

"Securing approval on Fullscript is a pivotal milestone in our Canadian expansion. Combined with our existing Ecotrend partnership, we now have complete coverage of the Canadian practitioner market, traditional wholesale through Ecotrend for in-clinic dispensaries, and digital direct-to-patient through Fullscript. This dual-channel approach removes any barriers to practitioners choosing Activated Probiotics for their patients."

"This partnership demonstrates continued momentum in our Vision 27 international expansion strategy. We're systematically building scale across key markets, Canada, Ireland, New Zealand and the UK—establishing Biome as a truly global leader in evidence-based microbiome health. Fullscript's broader platform reach positions us well for ongoing growth opportunities."
