

Cadence Capital Limited (ASX: CDM) Full Year Results

Sydney, 21 August 2026: Cadence Capital Limited today announced its full year results. Karl Siegling, Chairman, said “Cadence Capital Limited ended the financial year with the fund being up 20.1%, outperforming the All Ordinaries Accumulation Index by 14.4% and earning a profit after tax of $33.4 million. CDM’s share price for the year, including dividends and franking, was up 30.6%. The top contributors to performance for the financial year were Predictive Discovery/Robex Resources merger, Samsung Electronics, Lindian Resources, Kingsgate, Endeavour Mining, Equinox Gold, EQ Resources, New Gold, West African Resources and Metals X. The detractors from performance for the year were Boss Energy, QBE Insurance, Amplitude Energy and 29 Metals.”

Full Year Results to 30 June 2026:

- Fund up 20.1% in FY26
- Outperforming the index by 14.4%
- Profit before tax of $47.4m
- Profit after tax of $33.4m
- 3.0c FF final dividend, 1.0c FF special dividend
- 9.3% FF yield, 13.2% gross yield (Incl. special dividend)
- 25cps Profits Reserve, 4 yrs of dividends
- 5.4cps Franking Credits, 2 yrs of FF dividends
- CDM Share price up 30.6% over FY26 (Incl. Div.& franking)
- CDM shares trading at a 6% discount to Pre-tax NTA

Karl Siegling continued, “Some of CDM’s largest contributors to performance were gold and precious metals related stocks. The gold price entered FY26 at US$3,300/oz, peaking in January at nearly US$5,600/oz, before retreating to end FY26 at US$4,000/oz. Positions such as Predictive Discovery, Robex Resources, Kingsgate, Endeavour Mining, Equinox Gold, New Gold and West African Resources benefitted from the gold price tailwind in the first half of the financial year to deliver strong performance.”

“Over the second half of the year, the falling gold price and changing trends of the resource stocks led us to sell down more than 80% of our gold and resource stocks, leading to the elevated cash position as at 30 June 2026.”

Karl Siegling added, “Opportunities have emerged more recently to invest in good businesses that have been heavily sold off by the market. Previously these ‘market darling’ businesses were on extreme valuations that did not meet the Cadence fundamental criteria. A few examples of these companies include CSL, Cochlear, Pro Medicus and A2 Milk. Despite temporary headwinds in each of these businesses leading to material share price corrections we still believe they are good businesses that can turn around and the share price trends are beginning to reverse. We have initiated positions in each of these companies and have added to several as their share prices have risen.”

Fully Franked Final and Special Dividends

On 15 July 2026 the Board announced a 3.0 cents per share fully franked final dividend, bringing the full year dividend to 6.0 cents per share fully franked. This equated to a 7.9% fully franked yield or an 11.4% gross yield (grossed up for franking credits) based on the share price of $0.755 on the day of the announcement. The Ex-Date for the final dividend is 29 September 2026, and the payment date is 15 October 2026. CDM currently has a profit reserve of 25cps, equivalent to 4 years of dividends at the current final dividend rate. The company also holds 5.4cps of franking credits, sufficient to fully frank around 2 years of dividends at this level.

On 15 July 2026 the Board also announced a Special December quarter dividend of 1.0 cent per share fully franked. Including this Special Dividend, the fully franked yield is 9.3%, and the gross yield is 13.2%. The Ex-Date for the special dividend is 15 December 2026, and the payment date is 23 December 2026.

The dividend re-investment plan (DRP) will be in operation for the final dividend. The DRP will be priced at the weighted average share price over the relevant DRP pricing period. The Company will buy-back the shares it issues under the DRP. This buy-back will operate when the CDM share price is trading at a discount to the Pre-Tax NTA.

If you are not registered for the DRP and you would like to participate, please contact Boardroom on 1300 737 760.

Outlook

Karl Siegling said, "What we are seeing in global markets today is very reminiscent of the 1970s. The 1970s saw elevated inflation driven by oil and food shortages. Central banks to combat this were forced to aggressively raise interest rates. In addition, the geopolitical environment has become increasingly volatile with currency wars and resource nationalism, each of which are traits of the 1970s. All these characteristics are present in our markets today and we expect a similar path forward."

Karl Siegling continued, "Many crowded trades in recent times have begun to unwind with extreme volatility around reporting dates. We continue to see opportunities in some of these higher quality businesses that quickly become unloved despite good underlying business models. This is a trend we expect to continue going forward with concentrated market positioning in a small number of stocks."

Karl Siegling added, "We continue to focus on implementing the Cadence process that has served us well through market cycles."
