

Re-Application for Exploration Permits at Silver Mountain

Eagle Mountain Mining Limited (ASX:EM2) (Eagle Mountain, or the Company) provides an update on its tenure at the Silver Mountain Project (Silver Mountain, Project).

The Company has received communication from the Arizona State Land Department (ASLD) that two of its four Exploration Permits at Silver Mountain, comprising approximately 12% of the Project (Figure 1), have been cancelled for failure to submit annual renewal applications.

The Company has submitted new applications covering the same area as the previous Permits. The applications have been acknowledged by ASLD and are currently being processed with granting of the new Exploration Permits expected in 30 to 120 days.

The re-application process is not anticipated to adversely affect the near term exploration activities at Silver Mountain as:

- The Company's focus in the next three months is assisting Nittetsu with its due diligence activities regarding a potential joint venture at the Oracle Ridge Project (refer to ASX announcements dated 5 November 2025); and
- Planned exploration activities at Silver Mountain are outside of the areas subject to the re-application process.
